

Dragons in the Distance - Lyrics

I dreamed of great adventures
When I was very small
Of solo quests for treasure chests
Alone I'd brave it all

The years crept up the fears crept in
I packed those dreams away
But you turned up and tipped them out
Into the light of day

So take my hand, let's go.
Let's set off into the great unknown
A two person army, we shall advance
The dragons in the distance,
They don't stand a chance.
Against you and me my love,
They don't stand a chance.

I'll hold the thorny branch aside
While you cut out a path
Ever moving forward,
Never looking back

The glaring sun illuminates
Your raven hair and eyes
And in your face I see just where
The precious bounty lies

So take my hand, let's go.
Let's set off into the great unknown
A two person army, we shall advance
The dragons in the distance,
They don't stand a chance.
'Gainst you and me my love,
They don't stand a chance.
