

The Next One Lyrics

You're a mystery I want to unravel
Get to the bottom of
To the dirt and the gravel
And when I've solved all the clues
And there's nothing left of you
When no stone's been left un turned
And all my bridges have been burned

I'll go on waiting til the next one comes along Yeah I'll go on waiting til the next one comes along

It don't matter that I kiss you Like I mean it
Yeah I've heard about love
But I've never seen it
So why after all these years
Should she suddenly want to appear?
Can we just have a little fun
And then darling when we're done
I can go back to waiting for the next one to come along

It's never been this hard to leave someone behind
I'm the one who steals the hearts but now you've stolen mine
Sorry I Just can't let myself
And baby don't you know there'll always be somebody else
Oh i'm gonna miss you when you go You're the closest thing to love that I have ever known

But I'll always be waiting til the next one comes along I'll always be waiting for the next one to come along I'll always be waiting for the next one
