

Hear Your Voice

Danni Nicholls, Kyshona Armstrong

You watch them standing in the spotlight
You never wanted to shine
In the shadow of the wings
You've been waiting patiently
To sing your song

Many have tried to use your kindness
Misread your eyes and your smile
You've been hiding in the shame
But the show goes on just the same

When the curtain falls
And the cast is bowed
When the crowd has gone
And the lights fade out
I wanna hear your voice
I wanna hear your voice
I wanna hear your voice
Sing it out

When you are ready to step into your power
The bridges you'll burn will light your way
And when you're marching down that road
Know that you are not alone

When the curtain falls
And the cast is bowed
When the crowd is gone
And the lights fade out

I wanna hear your voice
Sing it out
